OAKLANDERS IN ALLEGED LAND FRAUD

Oscar C. Lamp and Leslie
L. Palmer Among Eighteen Indicted for Operations of the Daniel Hayes Company

Misrepresentation of Tracts in Merced and Madera Counties Charged Against
Two Million Corporation

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Eighteen men were named today in indictments returned by the federal grand jury as a result of its investigation of the Daniel Hayes Company of Idaho, a $2,000,000 land project in California. The indictments charge conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud.

Daniel Hayes of Chicago, president, treasurer and director; Oscar
C. Lamp, Oakland, Cal., vice-president and western manager; Leslie L.
Palmer, Oakland, agricultural inspector; E. M. Anderson, Patterson, Cal., sales agent; C. W. Porter, Chicago and California, sales agent; and Matthew J. Bence, Milwaukee, comptroller, were among the men indicted.

The others indicted were for the most part employees of the Chicago offices of the concern.

MISREPRESENTATION IN SALES CHARGED.

The Daniel Hayes Company of Idaho has its headquarters in a building here which bears the company's name.

The indictments declared the company owns 180,000 acres in Merced and Madera counties, California, which it is alleged, represented as capable of growing potatoes and other vegetables "when it was not fitted for growing said things."

The misrepresentations, the indictments charge, were made through advertisements. Two hundred dollars an acre was asked.

The indictments charge that the company sold the land between January 1, 1918, and February 4, 1920.
REPUTATION WAS FORCED BY CREDITORS.

Bankruptcy proceedings against the Daniel Hayes Company were filed by its creditors last February in Chicago. Daniel Hayes Jr., indicted on the stand shortly afterward in Judge Landis' court that the supposedly $2,750,000 corporation had tangible assets worth less than $100,000.

Immediately upon the filing of the bankruptcy proceedings Judge Landis began an investigation of the affairs of the company, which had been dealing in California lands of various kinds, but particularly in irrigated lands in the southern part of the state. Hayes' only property, a house at Evanston, Ill., was attached by the creditors.

The Daniel Hayes Company was organized in 1915 with a capital stock of $250,000, which was increased a little more than a year later to $500,000. The company has equities in California lands valued at more than $1,000,000, it was recently claimed by Hayes. He was doubtful, however, whether these properties could be turned into cash unless the company was reorganized.

DECLARES PALMER NOT IN COMPANY.

Palmer's residence is at 277 Athol avenue in this city, but he is at present out of Oakland. Mrs.
Palmer declined today to state his present location, but declared that mail to him could be addressed in her care. Neighbors understood that Palmer was engaged in ranching and that he was at present on farm property owned by him in the San Joaquin valley.

Mrs. Palmer declared her husband had not been connected with the Daniel Hayes company for more than a year. Before that time, she said, he was for two years an officer of the firm.

Friendless Girls Find Samaritan In Bandit Youth

Story of Sorrow and Crime Is Told the Berkeley
Police Chief

BERKELEY, Dec. 14.—Out of the arrest of Paul Burlingame, 24-year-old son of the Rev. George Burlingame, who is held on a charge of highway robbery, came new developments today in which two young women play the leading roles in a pitiful drama of life.

One of the girls, Miss Jessie Hayden, 23 years old, posed as the wife of young Burlingame before his arrest last Saturday. The other, Miss Ruth Marston, 21, was her sister. Shielded since the arrest of Burlingame and Merritt Jordan for holding up a Euclid avenue street car, Chief of Police August Vollmer today disclosed the identities of the young women so that their example may go forth to others.

But for young Burlingame, Miss Hayden declares, she would never have lived to tell her story. Pen-iless, friendless in a strange city, ill and without a position, with her landlady ejecting her from her room, Miss Hayden was on her way to end her life in Lake Merced when young Burlingame met her and took her to his Berkeley apartment. Safe in a home with food and warmth, her first thought was for her friend, Ruth Marston, also a stranger in Oakland, and together the trio wove their little story to explain their unconventional relationship.

Posing as the girl bride of Burlingame, whom they had known, Miss Hayden was introduced to friends of the latter as "Mrs. Burlingame." Miss Marston was her sister on a visit from the state.

GIRLS URGED YOUTHS TO GO STRAIGHT.

It was the two girls, the police now disclose, who aided them in arresting the youths. Suspicious of the actions of Burlingame and his friend, Jordan, the girls urged them to "go straight." When the boys told them the story of the street car holdup they kept their promise.

Death Penalty Demanded to Protect Women

BERKELEY, Dec. 14.—Aroused by the wave of crime against the womanhood of the state, the Berkecampaign to secure passage of the coming legislature of most drastic laws dealing with crimes of that sort.

In resolutions adopted by the organization at a largely attended meeting, the state was called upon to assist in the campaign to secure passage of legislation. The resolution adopted says:

"Whereas, The criminal records of the state of California disclose an apalling number of crimes committed by thugs, criminals, half-wits and imbeciles against womanhood of our state, these unspeakable crimes being committed by both individuals

Father Rescues Child Stolen by Band of Gypsies

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Hundreds of persons who crowded around and wept, fantastically dressed Rosa Miguel, on her way to her home in Norfolk, Virginia, in the Baltimore & Ohio station, saw no hint of tragedy in her smile—no hint of seven years' separation from her parents and seven years of roaming of two continents as a prisoner of gypsy land.

Rosa's life of roaming terminated recently near Phoenix, Arizona, where the band was discovered by a private detective agency and where she was rescued after a brief fight.

Antonio Ynez, son of the gypsy band's king, whom she was forced to marry a year ago, is held today, with a number of the band, pending further investigation.

"When I get back home I'm going to be the happiest man in the small brilliant diamond in a front tooth," she said. The diamond, Rosa explained, was a symbol of her queenship over the gypsies.

Slain Victim's Burned Body Is Found on Road

Farm Hand Murdered for His Money; Attempt Is Made at Cremation

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEASING WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
GILROY, Dec. 14.—Ruesberry on the highway south of here today found the body of a man partially burned to death over a campfire in the cattle corral beside the right-of-way of the Southern Pacific.

Examination of the body indicated that the man had been beaten unconscious with some blunt instrument and his body placed over the campfire, apparently with the intention of hiding the crime by cremating the body.

A partially burned pocketbook found inside his coat furnished a clue which led to identification of the man as a farmhand who came to this vicinity about a month ago.

IDENTIFICATION CARD IS FOUND.

An identification card in the pocketbook read:
"A. Helmerick, 335 West Arber Vista street, Englewood."

Playing cards were found near the fire and it is believed the man probably murdered in a quarrel or for his money, although it is not known whether he had any funds or not. He was about 35 years old.

The clothes were burned from the body, and the body was found in another under the torso and in which the identification card was found.

BODY WAS TESTING ON SMOULDERING FIRE.

The body of the man was resting on railroad ties across the smoldering fire. The fire had evidently been used first as a campfire and then as a means of disposing of the body.

Officers are searching the countryside for members of a band of hired men who have been in the vicinity late night.

peace, out of loyalty. But with the arrival of the police on the scene, the youths themselves told their story, they say.

Orphans since childhood, Miss Hayden and Miss Marston have battled their own way in life since their early teens they say. Five years ago their paths crossed in the southern part of the state and since then they have shared many of the vicissitudes of life together.

Their only plea now and all their lives has been for a "mother love" to guide them along life's path-ways.

GIRL SAYS SHE WAS DECEIVED IN LOVE.

To them several years ago came that they supposed was the love that would meet all of their heart-aches and fill the void of loneliness within them. When she awakened from her "rosy dream" Miss Marston says she found that she was being deceived. All she had was a mere sham and that the minister who had united her to the man she loved was not a minister at all. A baby came and was taken by the pseudo husband. All the other love in her young heart called out for child but her pleas were met by the answer that her baby was dead.

In Miss Hayden's awakening was revealed the old, old story of a woman who gave her all for the man she loved. Too late she says she discovered that the story of love told to her was just another story and that her suitor had a force myself to think of other things whenever I saw the mothers of any of my school friends care them. I don't remember ever being kissed in my childhood.

"For six years I stood this sort of thing, this being a 'poor relative' in the midst of love and plenty, of the family of my relatives but never a real part of them. When I was fifteen I left them. At the time they didn't seem to care where I went or who I did and never afterwards did they try to find out where I went. It was a lonesome feeling to be starting the battle of life with. I came to California to stay for a while with another relative. There I met a man. He told me many things and my hungry heart went out to him. Then I learned that he was married and had a girl three years old.

"It seemed that Fate was treating me unkindly. I worked in cafeterias and hotels. I was alone and lonesome. Things didn't seem to matter then. It was then I met Ruth Marston and learned her experience. We became like sisters. I traveled about much after that working at different things in different cities. I met many men but my faith in them had been shattered. I believed nothing they told me. I grew skeptical of everything and everybody. Some of the men I tried to tell myself were 'different' but it always ended the same way. They were no different than the rest.

MET WITH ACCIDENT AND LOST JOB.

"In Oakland I worked at what I could. I was ill and had suffered an accident. I lost my job. I had no money. My landlady told me to move. I had met Ruth some time before and we were living together. I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to commit suicide. On my way out to Lake Merritt I met Paul Burlingame. I had met him several weeks before. He found out what I was going to do and he made me promise to give up my plan. When I told him I was broke he asked me to go with him. He told me I had all my life ahead of me and that somewhere I would find a way out. His was the only real friendship I had known in months. I went, in all my association with men Paul Burlingame was the only man who treated me as he should.

Paul was my friend when I needed one most and he remains my friend when he needs me most. I pleaded with him not to do the things which I was afraid he was doing. One night he cleaned his revolver and said he was terribly in debt and must find a way out. I couldn't stop him. The next day he told me of the robbery."

TELLS OF DEATH OF HER MOTHER.

Her first memory of her mother was that of a still form lying in a casket. Miss Marston tells a story almost paralleling that of her chum. "I wanted a mother more than anything in the world," she says. "Because our experiences may help other girls I want to say this—it's an easy road down and a steep climb up. Stay away from the 'bright lights.' Their glow is just a lure—their brightness a sham. The real 'bright' spots in life are elsewhere. 'Joy rides' have nothing of the joy their name implies. It is only suffering that follows. If a girl has a mother let her love her and cherish her. If any woman has a daughter let her tell her the vital things of life, let her make her her confidant and share her sorrows and her joys. The only confidant I had in the days of a childhood so many ages ago was a worn pillow on my bed. I can remember sobbing my heartaches out with no one to listen to me."

Of the two ways women pass they were the girls have nothing but praise.

"There are many girls like this in the world," says Miss Marston. "A friendly word now and then may help avert much sorrow. These girls are determined to go 'right.' It is up to us to help them."

DEATH ASKED IN ASSAULT CASES

Innocent girls and decent, law-abiding women, while the girls assaulted are, through no fault of their own, doomed to carry an unforgettable stain on their reputation and character and in many instances forfeit the opportunity to consummate a successful marriage and suffer complete ostracism from society; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the Berkeley Defense Corps, an organization of loving husbands, fathers and brothers, call upon the legislature of the state of California in their next assembly to adopt such laws as a permanent protection to the virtue of our womanhood as will impose a penalty for rape and gang outrages of sterilization of the guilty party or parties as a minimum penalty graduating up to a maximum penalty of death on the gallows, depending upon the seriousness of the crime; and use to give up my plan. When I told him I was broke he asked me to go with him. He told me I had all my life ahead of me and that somewhere I would find a way out. His was the only real friendship I had known in months. I went, in all my association with men Paul Burlingame was the only man who treated me as he should.

"That we call upon other organizations of a fearless, outspoken type to support this legislation by insisting that their representatives and senators vote for its immediate incorporation into the laws of the state of California."

Paul was my friend when I needed one most and he remains my friend when he needs me most. I pleaded with him not to do the things which I was afraid he was doing. One night he cleaned his revolver and said he was terribly in debt and must find a way out. I couldn't stop him. The next day he told me of the robbery."

TELLS OF DEATH OF HER MOTHER.

Her first memory of her mother was that of a still form lying in a casket. Miss Marston tells a story almost paralleling that of her chum. "I wanted a mother more than anything in the world," she says. "Because our experiences may help other girls I want to say this—it's an easy road down and a steep climb up. Stay away from the 'bright lights.' Their glow is just a lure—their brightness a sham. The real 'bright' spots in life are elsewhere. 'Joy rides' have nothing of the joy their name implies. It is only suffering that follows. If a girl has a mother let her love her and cherish her. If any woman has a daughter let her tell her the vital things of life, let her make her her confidant and share her sorrows and her joys. The only confidant I had in the days of a childhood so many ages ago was a worn pillow on my bed. I can remember sobbing my heartaches out with no one to listen to me."

Of the two ways women pass they were the girls have nothing but praise.

"There are many girls like this in the world," says Miss Marston. "A friendly word now and then may help avert much sorrow. These girls are determined to go 'right.' It is up to us to help them."

In the course of a year's business there are many big days for progressive merchants, but ONE day always stands out and towers above the rest.

To make your big day BIGGER is then the ambition and desire of this store. It is an ambition easily realized when effort is concentrated upon it, when the true Christmas spirit of giving enters into our planning and the economies are made sufficiently worth while.

This is going to be the most worth while Christmas shopping day to you as well as to us—worth while from the standpoint of great economies on Christmas gift and seasonable merchandise.

Worth while because of the great variety of CAPWELL stocks. Worth while because of the QUALITY of CAPWELL stocks. Your gift with a CAPWELL label means something to your pride and that of the recipient.

Old Eureka Mine Still Being Worked

GRASS VALLEY, Dec. 14.—Workings of the rich old Eureka mine, near here, which were closed and abandoned for about forty-five years, recently were reopened and are now reported yielding enough ore to keep a twenty-eight stamp quartz mill in operation. During the twenty years the Eureka lode was operated after its discovery in the early fifties, it yielded more than 23,000,000, according to local records. The mine was closed when the lode was worked out. Recently a new company bought the mine property and entered the abandoned drifts through the shaft of the Idaho-Maryland mine adjacent. The company officials say the ore now being extracted probably was overlooked by the early miners.

LAW IS PLANNED TO CURB RENTS

Possibility that apartment houses may be declared a public utility became known today in a bill which is being drawn up by Harry G. Williams, city auditor and assessor. In an effort to improve the rent situation throughout the State, the bill, which calls for the inauguration of a housing commission, whose principal duty will be the fixing of rents according to the percentage of investment value of the property, is being framed for presentation to the legislature at the January session.

Williams explained that the housing commission should be similar to the railroad commission in powers and in size. The bill will be presented by Williams for approval near the end of the month before the assessors' convention at Sacramento. Local associations will carry it directly to the legislature from the convention.

In discussing the new bill today Williams said that a similar law had been in effect in Toronto, Canada, with success for several years. One of the big benefits derived from the housing commission in that city, he said, was the increased security of business.

Williams did not abandon his plan for increasing assessments on those apartment houses which pay low rents, although he said the passage of the bill would do away with this system, because there would be no longer undue increases.

KEARNY TRAIL END MARKED. SAN DIEGO, Dec. 14.—The end of the "Kearny trail," the plaza at Old San Diego, where General Stephen W. Kearny and his troops ended their 79-day forced march from Leavenworth, Kan., December 12, 1846, is marked today with a tablet on a huge granite boulder. The unveiling was celebrated under the auspices of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, assisted by troops of Boy and Girl Scouts of America.

WOMEN of Great Eastbay

Clubwomen Support Home Economics Law

By EDNA B. KINARD

Ninety-five per cent of all women are home makers according to Mrs. W. V. Cruess, chairman of the department of Home Economics, Alameda district, C. T. W. C. They approach their profession without any special training whatever the club leader declared before the December meeting of officers and department chairmen in Rebekah clubhouse. Enforcement was given to the senate and House of Representatives to provide for co-operation with the states in the promotion of vocational education in home economics, the appropriation of money and the regulation of its expenditures as a result of her eloquence.

Under this law $500,000 is appropriated for the use of the states for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, and annually thereafter for nine years an amount for each year equal to the amount appropriated for the preceding year increased by $250,000; for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, and annually thereafter the sum of $2,000,000 to be paid to the states in a manner similar to the Vocational Education Act approved February 23, 1917. Appropriations to the state shall be allocated in proportion which their population bears to the entire population of the United States $500 being a minimum for a fiscal year ending 1925 and $10,000 thereafter. A section provides for the appropriation of $75,000 annually to be expended by the Federal Vocational board in making studies and surveys in home economic education. The creation of a state board for vocational education with definite program is named as a necessary condition upon which to receive the benefit.

Public affairs of the city are to be carefully watched and notice taken not only of the unfavorable but the favorable conditions. If the plans of the municipal committee, Oakland center, California Civic League, are carried out, the personnel of the small group, of which Mrs. Bessie Wood Gustafson is chairman, is now being announced. Its members number Dr. Susan Weston, Mrs. Bello Chaboe, Mrs. E. M. Earl, Mrs. George Gamble, Mrs. O. E. Chaney, Mrs. A. H. Moulton, Mrs. E. Sheakley, Mrs. S. E. Sweet and several others.

Once more have the dates for the annual convention of Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, been amended. May 3 will usher in the three-day meeting for which the women's clubs at Antioch will act as hosts. Six months is none too long to begin to discuss program plans although it is far too long in advance according to the district president, Mrs. Claud Leech, to announce them. None the less some interesting features are in contemplation.

Oakland High school mothers once launched a Parent-Teacher association, but its frail bark did not weather the gale. When it had ceased to function it was suddenly realized that such an association was imperative. That is why last week a group of mothers and teachers met with Mrs. F. V. Volmer, representative of the Oakland Federation, to formally organize an entirely new club. Mrs. Fred McDonald has assumed the presidency. The officers who are associated with her are: Vice-

Sorority Girl To Be Bride In San Jose

The marriage of Miss Josephine Dunne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dunne of San Jose, and Frederick Ray Richmond is to take place December 21 in the Garden City, according to latest word received from the bride-elect. The betrothal of the couple, both of whom are representative of the social life of the inland city, was announced at a tea given by Miss Dart Tinkham of Berkeley a month ago. Miss Dunne is an Alpha Phi and a University of California graduate. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Frederick Dunne (Ruth Tinkham) will be hostess at tea for Miss Dunne on which occasion she will entertain a number of her friends.

With $140 in the treasury, the proceeds from one benefit whist party, "Elmhurst Mothers' Club" has in the making some interesting Christmas plans which are bound to make many a family and scores of youngsters believe in the personality of a Santa Claus. Using their own hands to manufacture warm comforters is not too much for these busy mothers. They have two families picked out who will receive the gift at the Yuletide.

Ebelle today was 44 years old. Tomorrow Oakland Club celebrates its Christmas party. Both functions were arranged as strictly home affairs with the members cast in the programs which celebrated the notable occasion.

sorority sisters. Mrs. Dunne will entertain at her home in Elma street in Berkeley.

Miss Jean Waste whose marriage next Saturday afternoon to Estel Ward is to be a notable event in Berkeley will be the motif Thursday afternoon for an informal tea which Miss Dart Tinkham will give at her home for sorority sisters of the bride-elect. The appointments of the wedding are to be characteristic of the middle ages and the ceremony is to be read in St. John's Episcopal church, 8 Northcott street, a cousin of the bride who recently returned from Europe, is arranging the plan of the decorations as the reception is to be held in the church following the ceremony.

Mrs. Harriet Rinder is to be maid of honor and her bridesmaid will be the Misses Dart Tinkham, Lorene Johnson, Louise Park, Ruth Sorrick, Ida Treiss and Gwyneth Gamage. Hanson McGarrett is to serve as best man.

WILL HAVE NEW YEAR'S PARTY
December 29 Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Webster who have been occupying the Frederick Diekmann home in Kingston avenue, will go to their home in Saratoga for the Christmas holidays. Miss Margaret Webster has been sharing in the social activities of the Webster set this season so that the family have stayed in town for several months. Over New Year's the Websters will entertain a coterie of the younger set at a party at their Saratoga home.

Miss Florence Veach gave a dinner last evening at her apartments in San Francisco making Miss Lorna Williamson her honor guest. Miss Williamson and her mother leave tomorrow for the east and Europe and accompanying them as far as New York will be Mrs. Lulu Rind Webster, Mrs. Bessie Hart and her daughter Constance.

WILL SAIL FOR ISLANDS
Mrs. Edgar Axton Jones of the Claremont Country Club has just returned from several months spent in travel abroad and with her husband sails tomorrow for the Hawaiian Islands for several weeks' visit. Her stay abroad was made pleasant with the meeting of a number of Californians touring the continent, among them the Charles Overtons, Mrs. Sunner Loop and Mrs. John B. Havre of Claremont.

Mrs. Madeline Clifford sails tomorrow for the Hawaiian Islands to visit friends there and in her honor Mrs. Horace Meek entertained Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krusi have returned to their Alameda home from Southern California. While in the south they were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Simonds at Redlands, and there met Mr. and Mrs. Austin Elmer (Marjorie Bronson) who are on their wedding trip south. Mr. and Mrs. Krusi have as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Knox of Hongkong, China, who accompanied them on the trip south.

"Curious marriage, wasn't it?" "How curious?" The bride, while given away and the girls say the groom threw himself away.

GASSED VETERANS TO BE REGISTERED

FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 14.—Officers of the California Tuberculosis Association have started a campaign to have cases of former soldiers, believed to have contracted tuberculosis, reported to state headquarters. Mrs. E. D. M. Tate-Thompson, executive secretary of the organization, announced here recently.

Discovery of an ex-soldier dying of tuberculosis in the Sierra foothills, where he had gone with his wife and four-month-old baby, caused the association officers to start the campaign. The soldier was gassed in France and contracted tuberculosis after returning home. Not knowing that he was entitled to compensation or medical attention, he took his family to the mountains and lived a precarious existence until he was found by association representatives and removed to a sanatorium in the foothills, maintained jointly by Merced and Stanislaus counties. At the time of his discovery the soldier and his family were living in a bare shack with one small stove for heating and cooking purposes.

TOSCANNI BACK IN N. Y.
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Arturo Toscanini, leading conductor at Metropolitan Opera House, in the city until Italy entered the war, returned to his native land, where he had gone with his wife and four-month-old baby, to nearly 100 pieces, comprising Italian instrumentalists.

Rich Claims Finder Is Now Destitute

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Dec. 14.—Winfield Oler, who in the stampede days of '98 discovered claim No. 23 on Eldorado Creek, one of the richest strikes made in the Dawson country, left here recently for the Alaska Pioneers' Home at Sitka, Alaska, broken in health and being helped by friends.

Soon after his discovery, Oler, not guessing the value of his claim, sold it to a man named Charles Anderson. Oler believed he was getting the best of Anderson on the deal. Anderson thought so, too, and tried but failed to get his money back from Oler after the deal was closed. Later Anderson took a fortune from the claim.

Letters of Terrie & Joe.

DEAR TESSIE:

It's a relief to hear you have at last tied the can to that stumbling nurse-girl, though when you come to think of it the fact that she stumbled over the baby every now and then might not have been such a bad thing for the child after all. I'm a great believer, as you know, in preparing a child for the shocks and unpleasant surprises of later life, and what could be more of a shock and an unpleasant surprise to a baby than to be suddenly stumbled over at irregular intervals? If somebody had thoughtfully stumbled over me as a baby every time I got to thinking in my infantile way that life is a grand sweet song, why I might not get quite so mad now when I stop to think that life is just one day's work after another.

On the other hand it might also be a good idea to vary the lessons so as to teach him that all the surprises of life are not unpleasant, such as by giving him a plate of ice cream, when he least expects it—on some cold winter day, for example. Of course a baby of six months is probably too young to eat ice cream with any degree of health, but that's the general idea. A good practical education can't start too early.

You ask me if I believe in intuition. Well, yes, I do—for a woman. Not that I believe women can't think, because they can't, but the trouble is, they don't. But then on the other hand, why should they? Nothing in the world is more trouble than thinking, either plain or fancy, and as long as women have their intuition to act as a perfect alibi, why should they bother to overhear the old bean with brain-work? If a woman pulls a boner she merely chirps, "Well, well, my intuition failed me that time!" and she gets away with murder, whereas if a man tried to pull that stuff they'd lead him to a pew in a luncheon. You belong to a lucky sex, Tessie.

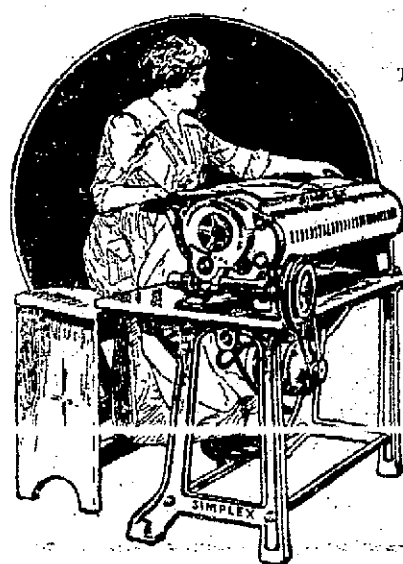

I had an awful dream last night. I dreamed you were telling everybody about me having a little private stock locked away. I woke up in a cold perspiration and a terrible state of mind, and while I never was a great believer in dreams, it will be a source of great relief to hear from you that this one had no foundation on fact. Affectionately, JOE.

Wife Who Neglected Home Is Divorced

Mrs. Mary R. Cabral remained away from her home six months during October without making a satisfactory explanation, according to the testimony of Anthony Cabral, who was granted a divorce today by Superior Judge T. W. Harris. Cabral said his wife neglected her household duties, told him she no longer loved him and wanted to be free and otherwise ministered him.

Mrs. Josephine Rosavage was given a decree from Frank Rosavage, who, she said, had sent her to California in 1917, promising to follow her later and bring their 12-year-old boy, Stanley, while she took the 15-year-old daughter, Stella, with her, but that he never had come and she had had to support herself. She said she had written to him many times, urging him to come here, but that he had ignored her requests. Once she told him that she was going to California, he wrote that he had no money with which to come to California as he had spent all the had at the beach having a good time.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

By ADOLPH GARRISON

In Explained Meeting—What Dr. Pettit Did

"This is Crown's pharmacy."

The precise tones of the general little druggist came to my ears after a wait that seemed interminable in the station booth.

"Is Dr. Pettit there?"

"Yes."

"May I speak to him, please?"

"Just a minute. Oh, Doc! Some one to speak to you."

I heard the firm voice of the physician crossing the door—I would have known that peculiar step anywhere—and heard his low inquiry to the druggist.

"Who is it?"

Mr. Crown's reply to the query was equally low, but my ears, smarting with nervousness, caught it distinctly.

"I don't know. A lady's voice, nobody around here, but I'm sure I've heard it somewhere."

LUCK WITH MADGE

The next second the young physician's voice sounded over the wire, professional to the last degree.

"This is Dr. Pettit, Dr. Pettit."

"This is Mrs. Graham, Dr. Pettit. I began, nervously, hurriedly, and I find—"

He interrupted me decisively.

"Where are you?"

"At the railroad station."

"I'll be there in two minutes."

The telephone receiver went into its hook with a bang, and in several seconds under the time named I saw my husband draw up to the station door. I was at the curb to meet him, for I did not care to have our meeting scrutinized by the crowd of the woman station agent. But he had heard me I heard her footsteps, and knew that with kindly intent she was on her way to the door to make the explanation to Dr. Pettit of her husband's absence.

"May I get in first and wait?"

He wasted no time in words—he had thrown open the door and was starting to swing when I spoke, but he held out his hand to help me in, and the next instant the door was closed and the car was turning around from the station toward the main street. I caught a glimpse of the agent's astonished eyes as he waved her a friendly little good-by, but felt sure that the physician's reputation for abruptness and haste would give her a good enough explanation of my hurried departure.

A STRAINED SILENCE

I did not speak until he had swung through the main street to the "turnpike," which I knew was the route we would have to take to Ticer's farm. Then, as he looked at me with just a suspicion of amused inquiry in the eyes, that, however, still held the sombre brooding look which has so often disturbed me, I said, hesitatingly:

"Please don't think I've taken leave of my senses, Dr. Pettit, but I came out this morning on an important errand."

"What errand?"

"To see you."

"To see me?"

"Yes, to see you."

"What time do you return?"

"The twenty-eighth."

"Would it make any difference to you if you took the same train an hour later from the next town?"

"Not the slightest in the world."

"I was looking at him now, in very earnest, I could do nothing else."

"I'll square his shoulders and draw a long breath."

"Face is good to me," he said. "I had not hoped ever to have a few minutes' peace with you again."

"Don't be frightened, a smart mother" agent, thinking me a stranger, said that you were probably going to attend Jerry's broken arm today, and that if I didn't delay you, you would probably let me go along, as you were awfully accommodating."

"I'm not a stranger," I said, "and I'll never again slander the little fellow that looks after my affairs."

The young physician returned, and he looked suddenly as if he had shed years of responsibility and was bent upon a holiday. "It was the merest accident that took me to Crown's last night. To think I might have missed you!"

"It is I who should thank my stars, I recognize lightly, for I did not particularly like the feverish tone in which he uttered the last words."

"I suppose I should have been searching the town for a butcher's shop or other convenience instead of riding luxuriously in this wonderful comfortable car."

I felt his hand upon my arm and he laid his own upon the pump-handle, evidenced the industry and cleverness of Mrs. Ticer, as contrasted to the shiftless appearance of the buildings and fences, the province of her spouse.

"COME RIGHT IN."

"I am always tempted to wonder how she disciplines Samuel when he comes too exasperating," he said as he turned off his engine and helped me out of the car.

"Probably she sends him to bed without any supper."

"I returned in the same spirit. 'From his general appearance I imagine that would be the worst punishment she could give him.'"

As if to verify our theories concerning the subjugation of Mr. Ticer, his wife's voice rushed our ears from inside the house.

"Sam! Here you, Sam! Hev you got that wood split yet?"

There was no answer, and the call was repeated, the voice sounding nearer and nearer until its owner appeared upon the front porch, when the call, "Sam!" was cut short in the middle as Mrs. Ticer caught sight of us.

"Well! Well! Well!" she boomed, coming majestically down the steps and I suspected that the ejaculation were meant to camouflage the embarrassment she felt at having her conjugal discipline discovered. "It ain't the doctor and Mr. Graham, is it?"

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is now realized. It stands the highest in its remarkable record of success. An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one person who so many applicants for insurance are rejected because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper—Advertisement.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

CALIFORNIA BANS OREGON WEEVIL IN STRAWBERRIES

SAN JOSE, Dec. 14.—A shipment of 45,000 strawberry plants from Oregon-infested districts in Oregon, and consigned to local growers was condemned by County Horticultural Commissioner L. R. Cody today. This makes more than $5,000 plants from Oregon shipments which have been received by 5 p. m. here this year. Cody stated that further shipments from these Oregon districts will be condemned also, as there is a state quarantine being observed in an effort to keep the strawberry fields here clear of the weevil.

SANTA CLARA'S TALK OVER BIG IRRIGATION PLAN

SAN JOSE, Dec. 14.—Colonel Robert Marshall, sponsor of the plan of developing 12,000,000 acres of land in five California valleys, including the Santa Clara valley, by irrigation and reclamation, spoke twice in San Jose today. His first address was heard by members of the San Jose Rotary club and friends at the Montgomery hotel, and the second followed immediately and the audience included members of the Santa Clara County Water Conservation committee, who recently started a conservation survey of the Santa Clara valley by a staff of engineers at a cost of $25,000. There had been some opposition toward participating in a statewide conservation movement inasmuch as the local campaign had been carefully launched and it was feared that a change in local plans would tend to confuse the public and hurt the possibility of carrying big irrigation bonding projects after the report of the local engineers is received.

L. C. Davidson, manager of the California State Irrigation association, also spoke today. Colonel Marshall and Davidson have been speaking in many parts of the state in response to invitations of various chambers of commerce and other organizations manifesting an interest in reclaiming millions of acres now lying idle for want of water. They have returned just recently from Los Angeles, where their project was endorsed by the State Real Estate Men's convention.

Mrs. Simpson told the police she had been annoyed several weeks ago by the appearance of the man at her front door who declared that he had come to collect the rent. She refused him admittance.

RICHMOND, Dec. 14.—If 100 or more residents of East Richmond will sign a petition asking for rural mail delivery, such service probably will be allowed by the postoffice department, according to a letter from Postmaster W. Stairley read at the meeting of the City Council last night. Attorney Wilbur S. Wiers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was present and told the council that at the request of Mrs. K. A. Cole, president of the Grand Parent-Teachers Association, he had forwarded such a petition for Congressmen Charles F. Curry.

In such a spirit and in the light of such knowledge as Mr. Morgenthau possesses the Armenian question should be adjusted. If the European Allies who have requested his service will undertake to uphold his decisions Armenia may yet be preserved. But will the Allies do this?

WHY DID HE SO LONG DELAY?

With his love for political trickery, President Wilson urged, in his message to Congress on December 6, that full independence of government be granted the Philippine Islands. This is the last session of Congress and it can endure only until the fourth day of March. It is the last session in President Wilson's administration, the last of the twelve sessions held during the eight years of his occupancy of the Presidency. During six years of his administration the President had a majority of Democrats in Congress at his beck and call, but the independence of the Philippines was not made a subject of serious consideration.

In the platform adopted at the Baltimore convention of the Democratic party in 1912, the convention which nominated Mr. Wilson for his first term, it was written and approved:

"We favor an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose to recognize the independence of the Philippine Islands as soon as a stable government can be established, such independence to be guaranteed by us until the neutralization of the islands can be secured by treaty with other powers."

That was eight years ago. Nothing has transpired in the interim worthy of note except the continued presence at Washington of a large and well-financed delegation of Filipinos to spread the propaganda of independence and the wholesale dismissal of American educators from the Philippine public school system under Governor-General Francis Burton Harrison's administration. It would, of course, be unfair to say that the Filipinos have not made some progress during the last eight years. They have seen the light ahead and even an inept political administration cannot prevent them from advancing toward the light.

It is also true, as Mr. Wilson states in his last message, that the Filipinos have succeeded in maintaining a stable government during the last two years, but that does not in itself contain all the proof of fitness for absolute self-government. Indeed, that performance is in a large degree offset by the action of the Philippine legislature in appropriating $500,000 to finance the propaganda of independence in the United States and the enactment of a law requiring the natives of tropical Moroland to wear long trousers.

But most of this is beside the point: If President Wilson considers the Filipinos ready for independence now, they were ready two and four and six years ago, when the President's recommendation for independence would have been acted on by a Democratic Congress. The President preferred, however, to await the time when a Republican Congress is in power, the time when the prevailing thought of Congress will be the permanent welfare of the Filipinos and not the satisfaction of the selfish endeavors of political doctrinaires.

Out of a steadfast regard for the Filipinos the proposal to cut them adrift from the benevolent supervision of the American government is apt to meet strong opposition at this time, and in this there may come political capital for the Democrats. That apparently is the thought in Mr. Wilson's mind.

Once more to the Christmas shoppers: It would be a fitting exemplification of the Christian spirit to think of the sales-folk, the mail carriers and the express and delivery help, and not delay your buying until the last minute, or the last day, before Christmas.

Out of all the tremendous cost of the war there has not resulted enough energy for the capture of Bergdoll, the draft dodger, nor the publication of the list of alleged conscientious objectors which Secretary of War Baker pardoned.

COOPERATION AT WASHINGTON.

Mr. Harding's farewell message to his colleagues in the Senate conveyed the promise of Executive regard for the responsibilities of the Senate coupled with a just insistence upon the responsibilities of the Executive. In no better spirit could Senator Harding prepare to enter upon the office of President than in the spirit of cooperation which he has so repeatedly stressed.

That second part of his creed, the responsibilities of the Executive, Mr. Harding must remember. Events will remind him if he forgets. Cooperation under our ideal of government does not always mean conciliation. In the course of his campaign Mr. Harding covered again and again to the Constitution of the Fathers. Now, the Constitution framed by the Fathers is a scheme of checks and balances. When the Supreme Court invalidates a law passed by Congress and approved by the President the Court is cooperating in the sense of the Constitution but not in the ordinary meaning of the word. Mr. Harding must prepare himself for times of conflict as well as times of conciliation. And it will be easier for him to conciliate the Senate when he has to, if he makes it clear that he will not hesitate to antagonize the Senate when he has to. What will count is not words but acts.

One such act is within the power of Mr. Harding even before he becomes President. And that is action to make it clear that his promise of cooperation with other nations for the furtherance of world peace was not an empty one. In the framing of his cabinet his choice must be made between the friends of international cooperation and his enemies. We cannot see that Senator Harding has any free choice in the matter. He must go with the friends of international peace. That will no doubt raise trouble in the Senate, but not insuperable trouble. Mr. Harding cannot cooperate with all of the Senators all of the time. He can and should cooperate with the same majority in the Senate and his own party.—New York Evening Post.

NOTES and COMMENT

If it is so that President Harding has solicited the opinion of William Jennings Bryan on matters national, it evinces an amiable disposition to listen. Mr. Bryan has talked himself out with his own party, and that the head of his party's hereditary opponent is willing to give him a chance shows a kind-hearted tolerance, to say the least.

There was when the ingenious press agent had stories of actresses miraculously escaping from hotel confessions. Then appeared accounts of their undress being lost or stolen. Curious would not seem to be in need of that sort of heading, but the story of the ruptured blood vessel in his throat, coupled with the announcement that he was expected to sing three days later, has a sort of start that way.

The many later disclosures of gamblers' doings, and of immorality in the infrequent cases, when they have been rounded up, is bound to suggest that there has been a good deal of sleeping at the switch in management. Things could hardly have come to such a pass with the police alert and the courts doing their duty, it would seem.

The Spanish king is to form a union, so a despatch states. There are so many kings now out of jobs, due to intruding republics and various usurping "scams," that he should have little trouble in forming a considerable organization. However, that it is to operate in South America indicates that its membership is not to be limited to crown wearers.

The outside public may find it difficult to estimate the merits of the school squabble in San Francisco. Admitted was deposed from a principalship by unanimous vote of the Board of Education, and denounced by the mayor; then reinstated by the board with the assistance of the mayor, and then given a banquet. At a distance this certainly would be puzzling without a diagram.

"Detective Matheson to speak on gangs." A purpose is served by such public addresses. If the people are not aroused they are at least informed, and should be forewarned. The success of these moral monsters is in some degree due to ignorance, or ignorance of their immensity and dire capabilities.

They may be slow in coming out for official jobs in San Francisco, but it is not so in Tonopah. One hundred and seventeen applications have been made to the recently elected sheriff for positions. Another instance of the country outspeeding the city.

The demoralization abroad is pretty well illustrated by the news that regular Italian troops are joining the regular Italian forces. The world has been making merry over the poets' military pretensions. Perhaps the poet is now coming into his laugh.

Something like a dare from the Woodland Democrats: "Republicans have big majorities in both houses of congress, but they will lack the temerity to undo a whole lot of legislation that Democratic congresses since 1913 have written upon the statute books."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Oakland has instituted a pretty custom, unique in California celebration. The custom of the city duck to the waters of beautiful Lake Merritt in the heart of the city will be celebrated with a gay pageant. Other sections may have their rose tournaments, their blossom festivals, their apple and orange shows. Oakland has the "something different" which calls attention to one of the most delightful features of her outdoor life—the lake which nestles in the residence section at the foot of green hills and invites her people to stay out of doors and watch the children and wild birds frolic, while sections not so favored may be tucked away under their blanket of winter snow.—Stockton Record.

H. G. Brown: "The wool we pooled and sent east is still in storage. When the market gets better we should be in a position to draw first consideration. I have been told that lots of shoddy has been showing up in manufactured goods of late. That hits us, if so, and I think it is. The Farm Bureau is backing the Truth Fabric Bill, which provides that an all-wool garment must be labeled such and be true to the label. The bill is being fought hard by manufacturers."—Dixon Tribune.

By giving the Benicia Chamber of Commerce the sum of $1000 last Monday to assist in the fight for the Benicia arsenal, the Board of Supervisors have assisted materially in the fight now being waged for the enlargement of that institution, which makes it all the more important that the effort of the citizens of Benicia, through the Chamber of Commerce, to bring to the attention of Congress the needs of this plant.—Benicia Herald.

"BUY A SUIT OF CLOTHES"

The slogan "Buy a Bale of Cotton," which was sprung upon the country by cotton growers in the fall of 1914, was born of desperation, nurtured upon selfishness, and was early consigned to the oblivion that it deserved. The slogan "Buy a Suit of Clothes" that has been suggested by wool growers is the child of an equally desperate situation, but holds out to consumer, retailer, clothing and textile worker relatively as great benefit as may be realized by wool growers and manufacturers if the admonition is acted upon generally.

The mere purchase of a bale of cotton or wool sets no spindles, looms or life labor at work, and is of no avail in lowering the cost of living. Buy a suit of clothes, or a pair of socks, or a shirt, or any other necessary product of industry and the retailer and jobber and cutter will soon have to resume buying, and industry will be profitably employed once more.

But no admonition of the buyer of clothes character, no matter how clearly its humanitarian object may be explained, will, of itself, be sufficient to stimulate consumer buying on a large scale unless retailers back it up with prices that are guaranteed to give consumers the full benefit of reductions made by the mills and wholesalers—prices that will inspire confidence.—Textile World-Journal.

ENTITLED TO A PENSION

We can see no reason to blame or criticize the President for offering Mr. Tumulty a lucrative position on the Court of Customs Appeals. If ever a man deserved well of his chief, Mr. Tumulty does. Who has borne with the Wilsonian vagaries, in season and out of season, for better or worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health? Several people—but not least of all, Mr. Tumulty, Mr. Tumulty, when serious illness claimed the President for his own, is credited with sitting in for him and keeping the presidency in some semblance of working order. By all means, then, why not a custom-judgeship for him? The President might have done worse. He might have named Tumulty a rear-admiral.—Lowell Courier Citizen.

LITIGATION FEES SHOULD INCREASE, ASSERTS CLERK

County Official Says Cost of Courts Should Be Borne
By Litigants

Following its declaration that litigants should be forced to bear the expense of litigation in fees that would cover the costs of court activity, instead of saddling this upon the taxpayer, and that the money thus saved could be used to pay increased salaries to county employees, County Clerk George E. Gross has completed a tabulation of the costs of maintaining the courts, as compared with the receipts in fees, for the three fiscal years from July 1, 1917, to June 30, 1920. This showed that

Southern Pacific, Santa Fe Terminal Fight Is Now in Court's Hands for Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14. Superior Judge Frank Murphy today took under submission a petition presented by the State Railroad Commission to have a temporary restraining order granted by Superior Judge Flood several days ago, holding the costs are three times the receipts.

Gross offered the figures in substantiation of the statements recently made by him before the Alameda County Grand Jury, to the effect that he believed fees in Superior Court actions and proceedings should be increased. In his opinion, the costs incidental to the probate of estates should be borne by the estate. In general, expense incidental to personal service should be paid by the individual benefited. TRESTLE GLEN LOST AS PARK BY COUNCIL ACT

Sub-Division Plans Are Tentatively Approved With
New Road Provision

The project of using Trestle Glen, for a municipal park, which has been discussed through and over two decades, and has come before the people in at least one election, was finally lost this morning when the city council, acting on the recommendation of the city engineer, voted to approve the plan to build a new road, and to divide the land into lots, and to sell the lots to the highest bidder.

The plan, as outlined by the city engineer, was to build a new road, and to divide the land into lots, and to sell the lots to the highest bidder.

Estate of Suicide Left to Relatives

The will of Lester Mahler, wealthy San Leandro rancher who hanged himself at his home on Thanksgiving day, was admitted to probate by Superior Judge Robinson today. It is understood that the father-in-law and Ole Mahler, a brother, were appointed executors.

The estate, according to Attorney James M. Koford, will total about $30,000. The will left $5,000 to Peterson and his wife, and divided the balance equally among the following: Ole and Jens Mahler, brothers; Sorel Mahler, sister; Bertha Scott, sister-in-law; Henry Reiter, brother-in-law.

Reservoir Drained, Dynamiters Hunted

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 14.—The city authorities discovered late yesterday that all the water recently stored in the San Jacinto reservoir at the top of the Biological Trade north of this city had run off through a hole about two feet in diameter, the cause of which the department engineers had been investigating, and the hole was not yet closed.

The reservoir, which has a 900,000 gallon capacity, is situated on a hillside. The hole through which the water went to waste led through 150 feet of earth, and was about four inches of concrete facing.

The reservoir was built recently by the San Jacinto Water Company to store water brought from Lake Hedges to La Brea and vicinity.

'Outpouring of Pity' for State's Executive, Contained in Note Of Colonel Irish to Governor

John P. Irish of Oakland, one of the leaders of the opposition against the anti-alien law set in the recent campaign, today made public the text of an "open letter" he addressed yesterday to Governor Stephens with reference to the latter's statement that he would carry out the sentiment of the anti-alien law.

Irish reminds the governor of his agency of the passage of the law, but he has not carried out the law. He has not been cast against prohibition and citizenship, but commutation of death sentences and endorsement of a scheme to import negro laborers from the southern states. The latter alleged to have been expressed by the governor in a letter published in an eastern publication.

LETTER TO GOVERNOR:
The text of the "open letter" follows:

My Dear Governor: Age has not hardened me to the miseries of man, and therefore I sympathize with the victims of the anti-alien law. Hence the following outpouring of pity for you.

You have done the State Department at Washington the injustice of justice to ensure it that you will not embarrass it. The fear that you would must have hung like a cloud over the department, depressing even the high spirits of my old friend Ade, the veteran of the service.

You assure the secretary of state that you will enforce the law, passed by the initiative process, to forbid the leasing of land to Japanese guardianship of their children. To this assurance you link your humane and to take from them the spirit of obedience to public sentiment as expressed at the ballot box. So you have reformed. I make no argument for or against prohibition, when I remind you that the public sentiment of this state against prohibition has been five times expressed at the ballot box. At the election of 1913, when you were made governor, prohibition was voted on by the people and was beaten in a majority of the counties and in a majority of the senatorial and assembly districts of the state. But the legislature chosen at the same time yielded to your use of the power and pressure of your great office, and ratified prohibition.

DEFIANCE IS CHARGED.
You forced it to violate the vital principle of both direct and representative government, and when the deed was done, when you had successfully defied public opinion, repeatedly expressed, you said that the day you did it was the happiest day of your life. So this act, by which you destroyed more property than the Japanese here will ever own, made you happier than your wedding day, or any of the family anniversaries revered by the normal man.

There is a public sentiment against murder, but your indifference to it, your reversal of the verdict of the people, caused the citizens of So-нома county to administer justice at fresco, by a sentence that you cannot reverse.

You sternly rebuked these citizens for violating the law enacted by the people. But you set them the example when you violated the law enacted by the people in 1913.

But you assure the State Department that the initiative against the Japanese, which was approved by a majority of the registered voters of the state, and was disapproved by 222,000 of the best men and women in our population, will be sternly enforced by you. That law tears Japanese babies from the natural guardianship of their mothers and commits them to the care of the public administrator. Our wild Indians believed that the spirit of the dead entered the living and inspired their acts. Has the spirit of Troy Dye broken into your clay?

READY TO TEST LAW.
Your pride in the power of your office, expressed in a very sentence of your despatch to the State Department, is put behind that provision of the anti-Japanese initiative, that anyone seeking to test the measure in the courts shall be arrested for conspiracy, fined $5000 and jailed for one year. You had a part in putting that in the initiative. By it you imposed to intimidate the free citizens of this state and penalize any who exercised the right to test the constitutionality of the law. Let me assure you, my dear governor, that there are men in California who know that if their forefathers had obeyed an unrighteous law, there would have been no United States. There are men in California just as ready to pledge their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to the test of an inhuman law, as were the men of 1776.

I seek only to assure your agency about re-election. You are making votes in great bunches. You have lanced a Chinese, of whose guilt there were the gravest doubts. But the poor devil couldn't vote anyway. You are committed in favor of colonization the state with negroes to replace the expelled Japanese. The negroes vote, the Japanese do not.

Why, my dear sir, there are votes even in your assurance that you will not stop the business of the State Department, so grateful are our people to you for not throwing your monkey wrench into the delicate machinery of the federal government. Very truly,
JNO. P. IRISH.

Abolition of Auto Horns Is Advocated

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 14.—Elimination of automobile horns would prevent automobile accidents, according to F. H. HARDING HEARS NEW LEAGUE PLAN OF COL. HARVEY

By RAYMOND CLAPPER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

MARION, O., Dec. 14.—Practical politics crowded the League of Nations into the background today as President-elect Harding turned his attention to a list of political matters. Harding was also considering seriously the proposal of Colonel Geo. Harvey for an association of nations, in which members would be pledged to abstain from offensive warfare without a referendum of their people.

Although Harding refused to discuss the proposal, an official statement describing "Colonel Harvey's" plan was issued through Harding headquarters. This statement described the idea as "one which dwells all previous propositions designed to perpetuate peace and to democratize the world."

The fact that the Harvey plan was sprung immediately after Elihu Root, a league friend, had talked to Harding, led some to view it as a step to counteract the effect of the visit of Hughes, Hoover and Root, three league advocates.

The suggestion includes the idea of an association of nations which Harding put forth during the campaign, but the plan for popular referendum on war is an entirely new feature.

Ex-President William H. Taft will be the next chief justice of the Supreme court, in the opinion of Harding's closest advisers today.

Chief Justice White is understood to be planning to retire from the bench shortly after the new administration comes in. The second vacancy under the Harding administration will be filled by Ex-Senator Geo. Sutherland of Utah, it is believed.

Relatives of Captain Robinson Located

Captain Jay H. Robinson, who died in an American hospital in Constantinople yesterday, according to Associated Press despatches, was the son of Mrs. H. E. Robinson of 1017 Twenty-sixth street. It was learned today. He was a graduate of the Oakland high school and the Pacific Business college in San Francisco. Before entering the Red Cross service during the early part of the war he engaged in a mining venture in Nevada.

Captain Robinson went overseas as a Red Cross worker early in 1918 and after the armistice he became an agent for the American Commission for Relief in the Near East. Several months ago he went to Constantinople with supplies, and it was while engaged in relief work as head of the grain distribution for the Near East commission that he was stricken and died.

Captain Robinson was widely known in the Red Cross service in San Francisco and went to France with a number of Oakland and San Franciscoans. Robinson was an intimate friend of W. H. Henry of 2121 Webster street, the latter having served with him in Red Cross work in France.

HAYTIAN OFFER HUMAN BEINGS AS SACRIFICE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Voodooism, involving human sacrifice, is prevalent in the island of Hayti, says a report by Rear Admiral H. S. Knapp, submitted to Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who sent Knapp to investigate conditions in Hayti. "Voodooism is snake worship," Admiral Knapp said. "In its extreme rites it requires the sacrifice of human beings, the drinking of their blood and the eating of their flesh."

U. S. S. California Gets Oakland Lads

Among the several hundred sailors who are soon to be transferred to the main naval barracks where they will begin training for the U. S. S. California, are many Oakland boys. A special course in athletics is being prepared for the "jacksies," who will be taught boxing, wrestling, hand and football, baseball, bag punching and many other exercises which will serve to harden them when they begin their active duty aboard ship.

Dominick Angli, Fred Cronan, Frank Kelly, Tony Rossi, Claude Barry, Maxwell Brown and Bert Jennings are some of the Oakland boys who are in training at the naval station.

VANDERLIP NOT TO VISIT CAPITAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Washington D. Vanderlip, mining engineer and promoter, who claims to have received concessions of $2,000,000, 990 in potential value in Siberia from the Russian Soviet government, said today he had abandoned his previously announced plan of going immediately to Washington to present arguments in favor of resuming trade relations with Russia. He will wait for Los Angeles tonight, where he will confer with his financial backers regarding the next step to be taken.

He said he had received no intimation that he might be treated with coldness at the capital and that his change of plans in no way had been influenced by hints of official attitude.

POSTMASTER ARRESTED—PRESNO, Dec. 14.—L. A. Huey, former postmaster at Glaston, Louisiana, was arrested at Maricopa, Kern County, yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal S. J. Shannon, according to a wire received here from Shannon tonight. Huey is said to be wanted at Glaston for the embezzlement of United States postal funds. Huey is being taken to Los Angeles en route to Louisiana by Shannon.

GREAT WESTERN power is power to do good

The householder who wires his home for electricity does more than perhaps he realizes. True, he actually saves himself money because electricity is one of today's economic necessities. His home-life is made happier; the health of his family is promoted and the value of his property is increased. But—there's another feature of utmost importance—he becomes a real and practical community builder by supporting a POWER FOR GOOD.

Multiply by ten thousand the number of homes electrically equipped, and community happiness and health would then be multiplied ten-thousand fold. Every man and woman contributing by personal interest to Great Western Power Company's present development work to provide electricity to more homes, more farms and more factories, is indeed a community builder.

Every household in Central California cannot now enjoy the blessings of electricity because the supply has never equalled the demand. Encouraged by the patronage of community builders and stimulated by the moral forces of public opinion, Great Western is fast developing the necessary power to meet this demand.

Great Western's POWER TO DO GOOD is increasing in proportion to the support received from residents of the communities served by it. Each and every consumer; each and every stockholder [of whom there are thousands] enjoys not only individual benefits but through combined support paves the way for wider distribution of those benefits throughout the homes, farms, factories, mines and other industries in Central California served by the Great Western Power Company.

uses reinforced concrete and steel in all its building operations. This excellence of construction reduces maintenance and depreciation charges, increases power capacity and improves service generally. Improvements actually under construction will add to the estimated annual earnings. Great Western supplies power to farms, factories, mines, homes, etc., throughout the richest section of Central California. San Francisco and the trans-Bay cities are in this territory.

BLUE BIRD BUREAU of the TRIBUNE

A child's heart can be disappointed, it can be lonely and forgotten—it matters not whether father and mother were born in sunny Italy or Portugal, the ache will be there just the same. So many Goodfellows ask for American children and while there are some, it is the little foreigners who predominate. Perhaps their fathers are not educated enough to get the better positions with higher wages, but what difference does that make to the children. They know that because Daddy doesn't make much money, Santa Claus is not likely to come, and so they write to the Blue Bird and Goodfellows, expecting that their little wants will be granted. The ache and disappointment is just as real to the little Latin child as to the American one.

A girl of fifteen writes to the Goodfellows as follows:
"I am a girl of fifteen and am not able to go to school. I wish some goodfellow would make my Christmas happy by giving me some games or books. I would like some yarn to knit a sweater, if I could. If you have any other little things that would make our Christmas happy will you give them to us? I have a lame little sister who would like some things too. We would be thankful."

Her name is not an American one,
but the little lame sister wants Christmas just the same.

This letter was written by a neighbor of the woman mentioned in the letter—and her name is not an American one.

"Dear Blue Bird: I am writing about a little family that is in need very much. The woman is a widow with children and the only support is one girl who works. The mother has been ill and is not able to work, so if there is any one who would like to help them, they would be very grateful."

of the blood perhaps and your worn out, exhausted nerves need to be revitalized

For this purpose there is nothing better than Organic Iron, not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Over four million people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Ask druggist.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Nuxated Iron (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises.
Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stopping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

Determination on the part of Mrs.

take initial measures in effecting a woman's dress reform by wearing blue trousers on the streets, obtained for Chouvaldy an interlocutory decree of divorce yesterday in Superior Judge Joseph Kotford's court.

Many ripples, and a number of large waves, in their should-have-been-placid sea of marital bliss was reported by Chouvaldy to the court.
On one occasion, according to Chouvaldy, his wife refused to give up the trousers, or listen to reason.
"Give up my blue pants? I wouldn't quit them for the best man in the world, he quoted his wife as saying.

He also cites other troubles. Once, Chouvaldy said, his wife fled into a rage because he failed to execute her order to invade a neighbor's hen-coop to terminate the cackling of hens. They were married October 28, 1906.

U. S. Shipping Growth Shown By Sec. Alexander's Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Nearly one-half of the nation's record-breaking overseas commerce in the last fiscal year was carried in American ships, Secretary of Commerce Alexander shows in his annual report made public today. The overseas trade reached the unprecedented total of $11,773,424,000 and $5,071,705,000 of it was carried in American ships, a record against $7,683,223,000 carried in American bottoms the year before the war.

The total volume of imports and exports by land and sea was $13,549,661,000, nearly $1,000,000,000 more than in 1919. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, imports for the last year amounted to $5,238,221,000 as compared with $1,000,000,000 in the previous year and almost $2,000,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1918. The value of exports for the last fiscal year aggregated $7,550,423,000, an increase of approximately $900,000,000 over the previous year and $2,000,000,000 over 1918.

Alexander also shows that during the last fiscal year the number of merchant ships was increased by 670 vessels of 3,410,000 gross tons and that on last June 30 American shipping comprised 28,185 vessels of 15,724,024 gross tons, compared with 7,928,588 in 1911.

GROWTH IN SHIPPING
Growth of American shipping has been wholly in the foreign trade," the Secretary said, "much more than half of that growth having taken place since the attitude of November 11, 1918, and the increase of the past fiscal year being double that of any year before the armistice. This increase in tonnage would mean little and unless it stood also for an increase in trade."

Quoting from the bureau's statistics showing an increase of 12,000,000 net tons cleared by American ships in 1920 as against 1914, the Secretary continued in a word, "while our gross tonnage registered for foreign trade was 12,000,000 in 1914, it was 28,185,000 in 1920, an increase of 16,185,000 tons, or 135 per cent. This increase in tonnage was accompanied by an increase in the number of ships of 19,000, or 240 per cent. This increase in tonnage and number of ships is a reflection of the growth of the American shipping industry, which has been the result of the war and the subsequent increase in overseas trade."

In connection with the growth of American shipping and foreign trade, Alexander discussed the advisability of charging off to the winning of the war the cost of the cost of the government's ownership to enable them to compete with foreign shipping on the basis of actual value of the properties. He advocated this course, on the basis of actual value of the properties, through such action could the ships, built under wartime stress and at wartime costs continue to meet the overhead expenses of maintenance and operation.

MUST REDUCE VALUE
"We must be candid with ourselves," he continued. "The value of the ships owned by the government must be reduced to their actual value for competitive purposes at the present time and the difference between that value and the first cost should be charged to the winning of the war. The interest on that difference, the corresponding contribution to the sinking fund and the corresponding allowance for depreciation will be treated thus as war expenses, and this surplus is preferable to a continued failure to make annual payments on the account of the merchant marine to interest sinking fund and depreciation."

Although the nation's gross foreign business was the greatest in its history last year, the Secretary expressed the belief that American exports would find it "increasingly difficult" to maintain their position in foreign markets without adequate government aid, and he urged Congress to provide for expansion of the foreign trade commission and asked for increased appropriations to be used in the promotion of foreign trade. For Latin-American trade development, Alexander recommended expenditures of 50 per cent more than was used in this field last year.

STIKES MORE MONEY
The Secretary cited specific achievements of the department's foreign staff as proof of the aid it had rendered and was rendering American business in expanding and developing its foreign commerce.

During the work of the bureau of lighthouses for the year the Secretary said a total of 674 new aids to navigation were established, including 172 lights and 60 gas buoys, by the lighthouse service which on June 30, 1920, employed 602 persons and was charged with the maintenance of aids to navigation along 49,012 miles of coast line and 1,101 miles of inland waterway.

In his discussion of the work of the coast and geodetic survey, Alexander devoted much space to Alaska, declaring that there had been a well defined and concentrated effort on a big business scale to develop the territory as it should be done. He pointed out that Alaska, with its more than 25,000 miles of deeded coast line could not be approached without finding the water that nearly surrounded it.

COMPLETE SURVEY NEEDED
The Secretary said that hundreds of vessels had been wrecked on the Alaskan coast, many of them because of the lack of proper charts and knowledge of currents, and he urged that the present conditions as regards the survey work be remedied by means of complete survey.

ports carried on in a systematic manner with all possible rapidity. The millions of dollars that are being expended to build the government owned railroad through the interior of Alaska," said Alexander, "the large amount of private capital that has been and will be spent to develop her mines, to build up her fishing industry, the certain early opening of the vast coal fields; the utilization of the great timber resources, etc., all this would be worthless if vessels could not reach and enter her ports. That the national terminals, canals and waterways are being developed in a systematic manner."

Reviewing the work of the steamboat inspection service, Alexander showed that during the year nearly 5,000,000 passengers were carried. The total of passengers carried was 388,570,727 and only 42 lost their lives. The total number of accidents on ships resulting in loss of life was 132 and the number of lives lost 470 of which 147 were from such causes as suicide and accidental drowning leaving 325 as fairly chargeable to accidents, collisions and foundering.

WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD, SAYS SWOFFORD

Oakland Man Says Tanlac Has Put Him Back on Job After He Had to Give Up—Gains 18 Pounds.

Before I got Tanlac I had to give up my position on account of ill health but since taking the medicine I am back on the job every day feeling fine," said Edward J. Swofford, 2816 Grove St., Oakland, California, recently.

Yes, Mr. Tanlac has not only relieved my suffering but has actually built me up eighteen pounds in weight and I consider every bottle I took has been worth its weight in gold to me.

"Last February I had a severe attack of influenza which left me as weak as a kitten. I could scarcely get anything, and my stomach distressed me terribly.

"After meals I had such awful cramping pains I would just double up like a jack knife. I finally became almost afraid to eat, because I dreaded the suffering I knew so well would follow.

I had rheumatism in my feet and legs so bad I could hardly walk at times. I was also troubled a great deal with backache and finally got so bad I had to give up my position.

Along about this time I began paying attention to Tanlac testimonials in the papers and as some of my friends recommended it highly, I decided to try it out in my case.

Well, Tanlac seemed to get at the bottom of my troubles to start with for it built me right up. I have taken five bottles now, have a fine appetite, and eat anything I want without suffering the least bit from indigestion.

"The rheumatic pains have disappeared from my limbs, my back never bothers me the least bit, and my strength and energy have come back to me so that I now feel like my old self. Tanlac is great, there's no getting around that fact."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley by The Owl Drug Company Stores and Dierley's Quality Pharmacy, Alameda—Advertisement.

California POPPY SKIM-MILK

In powder form

Your doctor will tell you that many people have been misinformed regarding the food value of skim milk. Skim milk surpasses the food value of milk or eggs. It contains the valuable tissue-building proteins.

California Poppy Skim Milk produces fresh skim milk instantly. You simply add three rounded teaspoons to each glass of water and mix.

Skim milk made from California Poppy Skim Milk costs you only 7 cents a quart. And it is just as sweet as fresh milk—it has the exact flavor.

It doesn't spoil—even after the can is opened—there is no waste. You always have it on hand and never have to delay your cooking because you are out of milk. You should use California Poppy Skim Milk in all of your cooking in the same proportion and the same manner that you use fresh milk.

California Poppy Skim Milk is made by removing the water and butter fat from fresh, pasteurized milk, which leaves the milk in the form of a fine white powder. Nothing is added—it is pure.

Because of its concentrated form, California Poppy Skim Milk can be used as a substitute for eggs. It will make an eggless meringue, meringue dressing of superior quality. By a liberal use of the powder in mixing cakes, eggs can be dispensed with. Adding California Poppy Skim Milk to thin cream and mixing thoroughly, a heavy cream of delicious taste may be obtained. This will be found excellent in making ice cream.

You can make a delicious beverage from California Poppy Skim Milk by using a little more of the powder than usually. Reduced to the consistency of cream, it can be used as a cereal or in beverages. It makes wonderful chocolate. To obtain your milk, you allow it to stand in a warm place for a few hours. Excellent artificial butter-milk can be made by the use of Formica Tablets (sold by druggists). Cottage cheese may also be made from it.

Oppenheim Passes Lie To Attorney Riccardi

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—C. Vincent Riccardi and Police Judge Oppenheim came near to blows at the disbarment proceedings directed against the latter before the Bar Association today. After Riccardi had declared that Oppenheim had sent persons to him in an effort to persuade Riccardi to quit on the investigation, and Oppenheim had retorted by calling the attorney a liar, a policeman put an end to the argument. Mrs. Carmelita Imperiale corroborated Riccardi's testimony that he had gone with her to Peter McDonough and fixed things up for the release of George Imperiale, who was charged with manslaughter. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

Huge Tanker Will Be Launched Tomorrow

The Union Construction Company will launch the tanker Liebre at its plant on the western waterfront in Oakland tomorrow at 2:30 p. m.

The tanker is 435 feet long, with a capacity of 10,000 tons, and is the second tanker to be built by the Union Construction company on private accounts.

CLASS TO SHOW WORK.
Oakland citizens will have an opportunity to inspect the building and see classes in session in addition to viewing an exhibition of the work being accomplished in the sewing and millinery departments, at an open house which will be held at the Oakland Evening High School Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week. Friday evening a program followed by a dance will be given in the gymnasium. One of the main features of the program will be a series of selections given by the community orchestra under the direction of Glenn H. Woods, director of music in public schools.

HUNTER SAYS
NIGHT SCHOOLS ARE EFFECTIVEReport Reveals Great Need of Americanization Efforts;
4560 Students Attend

The quarterly report of the director of evening schools and extension activities, rendered the Board of Education last night, shows that there are now 395 students in citizenship classes, representing fifty-one nationalities, and attending classes in thirteen centers.

"The report," says Superintendent of Schools Fred Hunter, "reveals the great need for Americanization efforts and the wide scope of the field we are compelled to cover."

The four most numerous nationalities taught in the schools are in order, Mexican, Italian, Portuguese and Japanese. This applies to the citizenship classes.

In the public evening schools there are forty-five different nationalities, with 4560 students, in thirteen centers. They rank English, Portuguese, Italian as first, second and third in number of attendance.

Commenting on the utility of these schools Superintendent Hunter says:

"While greatly handicapped for lack of sufficient funds to properly promote this essential activity which serves as the best fundamental guarantee of good citizenship and as a sort of social insurance, the work is still progressing with some degree of effectiveness."

Auto Owners Are Thanked By Veterans

A vote of thanks was tendered today by officials of the Associated Federal Board students to Oakland automobile dealers who responded to a call for cars to carry disabled men in Sunday's bonus parade. Cars were furnished for 200 board students through the energies of Bricker, F. P. Robinson of Associated Federal Board students, Oakland, and such agencies as Nash, Oldsmobile, Chalmers and Lee.

$25,000,000 Deficit, Reapportionment,
Parole Law Change Await Legislature

By AD. B. SCHUSTER.

Reapportionment of the senatorial and assembly districts of the state, budget provisions for State University and farm betterment, important changes in the laws to make more drastic or certain the punishment of offenders as made up the agenda of the many questions to come up before the State Legislature when it goes into session on the third of next month.

Alameda county's delegation is planning a little get-together session within ten days, after which they will announce their positions on certain measures. That a number of the delegation have already spoken to him concerning an organization meeting and that one will be called was admitted by Senator Frank Carr today.

APPORTIONMENT FIGHT
PROMISES TO BE ACTIVE.

The reapportionment fight looms as the immediate prospect for excitement. With the gain in population as shown in 1920 comes a new adjustment of districts, so as to preserve them as nearly equal in population, is made necessary. As the state cannot go ahead with this task until after Congress has acted on the matter of senate and congressional apportionment it is probable that an extra session of the state legislature will be called during the latter part of 1921.

This reapportionment fight, when it does come will see a lineup of northern and southern counties as the Los Angeles plan, advanced with vigor in the south, is one that will count ten out of the forty senators and twenty-one out of eighty assemblymen.

The prospects of a fight for the speakership have disappeared with the announcement of San Francisco's candidate, Clarence Morris, that he is out of the running and the leaving of the field, practically uncontested, to Speaker Wright of Pasadena. It may be that someone will go after the place for the advertisement that is in the race, but it is conceded that Wright will have no trouble in landing the place.

More stringent regulations toward parole, with a compulsory clause that the arresting officer must be heard in every case before the parole board, will be urged in a bill before the session. It is made evident from expressions of men interested in a change in procedure that will make punishment more swift and certain. It is also proposed that the defendant in a criminal case be not allowed any privilege of immunity from taking the witness stand at the request of the prosecution and that the prosecution shall have the same right to call the defendant as a witness as it would to call a disinterested party.

The law would be amended so that a person could be called as a witness and allowed to make peremptory challenges as the defendant. The grand jury in Shasta county has made recommendations that the assemblymen and senators be authorized to question a witness.

Final efforts are being made to the end that large appropriations be made for the agricultural colleges, Davis and for other agricultural needs, strong representations having been made already to the governor and the budget board. It is also apparent that some plan of support for the state university will come before the lawmakers and that, unless a generous appropriation is made, a tuition system in the Berkeley institution may have to result.

Another school matter to be considered is the amendment proposed by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools, which will require the oath of allegiance to the United States from every pupil and scholar in each and all of the private schools of California.

The law, it is said, would put out of existence all of the Japanese language schools.

BANKERS AND LAWYERS
PREPARE FOR TROUBLE.

A law prohibiting any person other than an attorney from giving legal advice or drawing up any kind of legal document, will be presented. It is endorsed by the State Bar Association, and is being fought by the California Bankers' Association on the grounds that it would prevent a banker from giving a customer whether or not a note was legal, or any other similar matter of fact. The measure is said to be aimed at trust companies who have taken over legal work.

A bill calling for the election of five superior judges from the state at large to serve anywhere in California where they are needed, will be introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman A. S. Ross of Redding, Ross declared today.

The five judges at large will be subject to assignment by the governor to preside in counties where court business is congested.

is that the deficit be met by taxes on real estate and tangible personal incomes, a tax upon business and a tax upon inheritance.

INCREASE IN TAX IS TO EXCEED $8,000,000

The state revenues for the seventy-third and seventy-fourth fiscal years to accrue from taxes levied by the board of equalization will total $49,525,215. The revenues show an increase of more than $5,000,000 over the last biennial, but will fall far short of the total that will be required.

Consolidation of eleven judicial townships in Yuba county is urged by the grand jury there as something to be done by the legislature, and there is a similar plan to consolidate judicial townships in Shasta county. Northern Yuba and Southern Butte counties will ask the legislature to vote for them a game sanctuary which contains 20,000 acres.

The local delegation is interested in the effort that is to be made toward uniting the traffic regulations of the state on the grounds that some attention to this would reduce the number of accidents and make the enforcement of the law more simple and certain. Chief J. E. Lynch of Oakland, it is understood, will present a plan which may be included in a bill.

SCHOOL BOARD IS SUBPOENAED
TO GRAND JURYPlumbing and Sanitation Are Due for Rigid Probe, Dr.
Pease Says

The entire membership of the Oakland Board of Education has been issued subpoenas to appear before the Grand Jury Wednesday in testimony concerning the plumbing and sanitary conditions in the Oakland public schools. This was announced last night by members of the board.

Dr. J. Lorin Pease, who has been most active in campaigning for school sanitation, said he had not asked the Grand Jury to order the investigation. This was in answer to a question by members of the board who were asked if an office be established there upon the grounds of the school.

Pease admitted that he had not asked the Grand Jury to order the investigation, but said he had not taken any action to that effect, and the Grand Jury had done the work.

CONTRIVERSY BEGINS.

Contrivency began in the regular session when President of the Board, J. J. Lister of the Tompkins school, under the influence of the board, had been no more to discharge him but East Oakland residents said he was a popular and efficient janitor with a record of twelve years of honest service.

"I move," said Dr. Pease, "that we ask Health Officer Kirby Smith to come and discuss this matter with us. I object to the janitorial service at Tompkins school because small children are being made to work in an unsanitary manner, and because rubbish and refuse constitute a fire menace. In order that there be no misunderstanding or whitewash, let Dr. Smith come before this board and speak."

"I move we sustain the janitor of Tompkins school," said Director Fred Campbell. "I make this motion in spite of the persecution to which he is subjected."

NO PERSECUTION.

"There is no persecution," said Pease. "I move we table the matter until it is presented to the Grand Jury," said Commissioner Baccus.

"Hasn't this janitor been up for discussion before?" asked Pease. "The motion to table was carried. Dr. Pease spoke further on the subject. Baccus finally 'moved' to a point of order," and the subject was changed.

The next question was that of Independent Square, which the Education board wanted for a new East Oakland high school.

"Let us ask the district attorney for a ruling as to whether city property can be transferred to a school board for a school site," said Director Fred Campbell.

"We have heard the desires of the citizens in the neighborhood," said Pease. "I am also informed that the members of the Board themselves are against it."

"Your information is wrong," contradicted Marston Campbell of the Park Board.

"Director Pease, I trust you will take care to get correct information on a subject before you speak," said President Gray.

This started a general word-battle wherein Pease was fully contradicted, stood up to his girth and started to call up members of the Park Board on the telephone. It was then charged that Pease had gone to the City Council to influence it against giving the square for school purposes. Pease said he had merely stated to the Council that "the Board of Education is not unanimous on the subject." It was then charged that Pease was the one who was not unanimous.

A committee of women residents from the Independence Square neighborhood spoke.

"I want it for park," said Pease. "We do not think it right that you take that park for a school site," said one. "It was intended for a park and not for a school, and we always want it for a park."

Action was started to take the women's names and addresses, and whether they have children in the schools.

"That is insulting," said Pease. "If I was in that lobby I would not have pressure brought on me to resign."

Pease then made a speech. "I move that the names and addresses be withdrawn," said Director Short. The names and addresses were given back.

"Has Dr. Pease a few more words to deliver?" asked Commissioner Baccus.

"I have," said Pease. After a talk by Dr. Pease, Superintendent of Schools Fred Hunter asserted that though the school board owns two lots in the vicinity, they are large enough for the great East Oakland Cosmopolitan High School, and it will cost $50,000 more to buy property in the north end of Independence Square than to build the new Melrose Heights school, to cost about $45,000.

Among the routine business of the meeting was the opening of bids for the new Melrose Heights school, to cost about $45,000.

Branch of Auto License
Bureau Promised Oakland

With the first expansion to be made by the State Motor Vehicle Department, a branch office is to be established in Oakland, according to Superintendent Charles J. Chenu. The office will not be established before the renewal period, however.

"I want to do all I can for the people of Oakland," the matter of establishing a branch office to accommodate the automobile owners has been brought to my attention on several occasions but so far I have not seen it to make such a change later on after the renewal period, when we have more competent help. I can say it is quite likely an office will be established there. We have already enough competent help to take care of the renewal period as it is, and trained help cannot be had in a few short weeks. It takes months to train men for these positions.

SAN DIEGO GETS OFFICE

We established an office at San Diego not long ago and soon after a number of requests from Oakland were received asking that an office be established there upon the grounds of the San Diego, a similar city that Oakland had one. We established the office in San Diego, to take care of not San Diego alone, but of Imperial Valley. Due to the long distance between Sacramento and San Diego, phone calls are higher than between Oakland and Sacramento. It costs more to telegraph and take longer for mail communications.

Senators A. H. Reed and Frank M. Carr have taken a personal interest in the matter of a branch office of the State Motor Vehicle Department and announced today they believed the office could be secured if proper steps are taken.

As given by the legislature in January they will confer with Marston Campbell, secretary to the governor, the governor's advisors and Chenu in an effort to have proper arrangements made for the establishment of an office here.

STATE SENATORS SPEAK

Reed said: "There is nothing the state legislature can or would do as a body. It is up to the individual representatives to try to see the proper people and to have the matter arranged in the proper way. There is plenty of funds in the department. That need not worry any one. It is only a matter of time."
